

What to expect with your weekly box:

- Freshness: When we are in season (June-October) the produce in our boxes is fresh picked daily and will have been picked about 48 hours before it is delivered to you.
- No Risk for You: We will guarantee that if we cannot fill our boxes we will partner with neighboring farmers with quality produce, when in season locally. If that is not possible we will promptly refund whatever we cannot fulfill. Also, no commitments are required to sign up for our program.
- Educational Experience: Part of the satisfaction of subscribing to our weekly produce boxes is that it provides a direct connection between the farmer and consumer, a rare relationship in our society. Not only are you purchasing fresh and healthy produce, we will keep you informed through farm updates, agricultural news, recipes, storage tips. All the information you need to go along with the vegetables you will be receiving.
- Quality at a Reasonable Price: What we have seen with regard to purchasing vegetables in Chicago, especially at chain grocery stores, is that there are very few options where price and quality are not a tradeoff. You shouldn't have to choose between one or the other, so we have made both our priority.
- Relationship with Your Farmer: Of all things you consume, don't you think it makes the most sense for you to know where your food comes from? This is true even more so today than it was in the past. By cultivating a relationship directly with us, your food supplier, you can be sure you are getting a safe vegetables.
- Actually Save Money: Some of our customers have shared with us that our vegetable boxes have actually paid for themselves! By cooking at home even a couple more times a week and eating out less, you'll be eating in a healthier, more cost effective manner.

Triple A Farms

In 1998, at ages 13, 10, 6 the DeGroot brothers: Andrew, Adam, Aaron, partnered together to try their hand at business. The brothers had an introduction from their father & uncle – brothers who as partners operated the family farm in St. Anne, IL, roughly 60 miles south of Chicago. The three of them began selling vegetables from the farm at a new nearby farmer's market in Kankakee. Since then the number of markets where they distribute their produce has grown and they continue looking for additional ways to get the harvest of St. Anne to the tables of the citizens of Chicago.
